Rezoning bid meets with objections

Unless the Haliburton County Board of Education is willing to wait for the outcome of an Ontario Municipal Board Hearing, the former Dollo's IGA will not become a satellite campus for Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council reluctantly passed a bylaw that allows the property to be rezoned from Commercial to Institutional at a special meeting last Thursday. However, at least one Minden resident plans to file a formal objection to the rezoning, which would force a lengthy OMB hearing.

After going into a closed session for almost half an hour to discuss this bylaw, council reconvened to give it three readings, all with unanimous support. Despite this show of support in the vote, councillor Bob Sisson noted there are "mixed feelings" on this issue. He said council decided to lend its support to the rezoning in order to "get things in motion."

The board hopes to rent the building for classroom space for September. However, the property must first be rezoned in order to allow it to be used as a school. After council approved the rezoning bylaw, there is a 35-day period in which people can file written objections to the rezoning.

Joe Shapiera, who owns Jadek Sports, was the only person to make a verbal objection to the rezoning at Thursday's meeting. Allowing this piece of prime commercial property to be used as a school would be a loss to the downtown business section, he said. Shapiera also objected to the taxes the municipality would be giving up if the property is zoned institutional.

"I object to a prime commercial location being denied a decaying downtown core," he said. He said the lost commercial potential and the lost taxes would hurt the business section.

Although Thursday's meeting was to address the rezoning of the property, members of the school board were invited to give an explanation of why the extra classroom space is needed. Trustees Wendy Ladurantaye and Cheryl Murdoch and business administrator Jim Bradley were representing the board.

Over the past three years enrolment has been on the rise at Archie Stouffer school said Murdoch. The school is now overcrowded and more classroom space is needed. However, the Ministry of Education is refusing to provide any funding for either an addition or portables.

It is a "Catch 22" situation, said Murdoch. The ministry says there is enough room for 615 students at the school based on 35 students per classroom. However, the ministry also says the ideal class size is 20 students and demands that special education courses are available.

The board could opt to buy portables, at about $25,000 each instead of renting the IGA building. However the ministry would look at the portables and add another 35 students to the school's capacity for each. Therefore, portable classrooms would work against the board's goal of having an addition built in the next few years.

"We're not saying it's ideal," Murdoch said of the board's hopes to rent the building. "But in my estimation it's as good or better than adding more portables."

Earlier this year, the board set its priorities for capital projects and the addition to Archie Stouffer school was made top priority. If portables continue to be added at the school, Murdoch said the ministry will refuse to finance an addition and the board board will have to drop its plans.

Shapiera agreed that portables are not the answer to this dilemma. However, he insisted that renting, a building is not a solution.

Although the board is calling this a temporary, stop-gap solution, Shapiera believes the rental building would become permanent. "A temporary solution becomes a temporary, temporary, temporary....permanent solution," he said. The only way to solve this problem is through local militance, he said.

He said people should not have to put up with the ministry's obvious contradiction in class size requirements. "Children are being relegated to being second class citizens, and residents of this area should not put up with it." However he was pessimistic about the chances of people making noise. "It has to come from the parents, half of whom couldn't care less," he said.

It should also come from the teachers, "who have never had it so good."

The ceiling in the Archie Stouffer Elementary School gymnasium was barely high enough as the school's gymnastic team put on a performance for parents last Friday afternoon. Joey Marsh is one of the high-flying students to demonstrate his skill on the trampoline. The team was coached during lunch period by David McKinlay.

Area man nabbed in raid

A 19-year-old Haliburton man is one of 13 people charged after a series of early-morning drug raids throughout the Haliburton and Kawartha areas.

Wayne Leonard Ber-

As a result of a two-month investigation into the street-level distribution of drugs in the Kawartha Lakes area, Ontario Provincial Police No. 8 District Peterborough, assisted by the Lakefield Police Department, conducted a series of early morning raids and arrested 13 people on charges of trafficking, possession and cultivation of narcotics. There are outstanding arrest warrants for two

Enrolment continues to climb

Enrolment is expected to reach an all-time high in the courses being offered through the Haliburton School of Fine Arts this summer, the board of Governors for Sir Sandford Fleming College was told last week.

The board held its regular meeting last Wednesday at the Norman A. Sisco Centre where Barb Bolin provided a report on the activities at the Haliburton Village campus. There have been substantial gains over the past few years with the fine arts program, Bolin told the board. In 1984, enrolment in the summer courses which are offered at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was about 900. The enrolment has been growing each summer and last year there were 1,300 students. She said enrolment is expected to continue its climb again this summer to about 1,500 students.

Many of the courses that are offered will be overbooked, Bolin said. The school is restricted by space limitations at the high school. She said the most the school can handle is about 1,700 students.

Frank Brearton also reported to the board on activities at the campus.

"We are looking squarely at art as an area of development," he said, referring to the initiative to establish a year-round School of the Arts in Haliburton.

Brearton said he is taking a good look at the support for the visual arts programs, and is re-examining the basis of arts and crafts courses at all four campuses.

Minden, Dysart arenas benefit from grants

The Minden and Dysart community centres will benefit from grants being provided by the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation for repairs and renovations.

A grant of $9,262 has been approved for the Minden Community Centre, Tourism Minister Hugh O'Neil announced last week. The Dysart arena and community centre will benefit from a similar grant of $11,550.

These two grants are part of the $7.5 million set aside for repairs and renovations to recreation facilities in Ontario. Eastern Ontario's share of this totals almost $2.4 million and will be shared by 93 communities. The funding is designed to help extend the useful life of such facilities as arenas, community centres, swimming pools, tennis courts and sports fields.

The funding was approved by the ministry under its Capital Conservation Program, which since 1985 has been helping communities across the province maintain sport, fitness and recreation resources.

"The program gives highest priority to projects involving buildings constructed before 1972," said O'Neil. "But it also promotes the upgrading of outdoor facilities, as is reflected in a number of excellent projects the ministry is now funding in Eastern Ontario."

Capital Conservation Program project assessments give special attention to initiatives designed to adapt facilities to meet the recreation needs of groups such as the physically challenged and older adults.

The members of Club 35 provided a $100 boost to the fund-raising efforts of Haliburton Highlands Secondary School stage band. The Hall's Lake group president, Murray Daniels, presented the donation to band member Chris Bunker at a recent Monday evening euchre party. The band will be taking part in the National Stage Band Finals in Calgary.

Township sets impost fees

Impost fees of $200 will now be charged in Lutterworth Township whenever a land severance is requested.

Lutterworth Township Council passed a resolution at last Tuesday's meeting to establish impost fees, as well as to set fees for rights of way, minor variances and rezoning applications. The fees are to cover the cost of the work carried out in processing the applications.

The fee for rights of way will be $50, minor variances will cost $150, and rezoning will cost $500.

The fees were to go into effect Wednesday, and are comparable to what other municipalities charge.

No gains

This November, residents of Snowdon Township will be going to the polls to elect what may well be the last municipal council that township may ever see. Residents of Bicroft and a handful of other small municipalities will be doing the same unless County Council's initiative to reduce the number of municipalities is stopped cold.

Minden Reeve Sinc Nesbitt and Bicroft Reeve Bill Howe will introduce a motion at the May 18 meeting of county council to commission a study into the possibility of reducing the number of municipalities here to five or fewer. The small municipalities will be asked to fuse with their larger neighbours in order to clear up a perceived problem of equitable representation on county council.

The rejuvenation of this idea stems from a recommendation from the provincial Advisory Committee on County Government. That committee recommended to the Minister of Municipal Affairs that study be given to the problems associated with very small municipalities. The problem identified by this committee is one of establishing equal representation on county council when there is great variance in the populations of the municipalities represented. The goal of representation by population is difficult to achieve in this situation.

It should be noted that when Haliburton made its presentation to the advisory committee in June, this was not identified as being a problem. In fact, the submission indicated that there were no problems with county government in Haliburton. But when the report was released in November. Some members of county council suddenly decided that, in fact, there is a problem and immediately began planning to correct it.

It would seem there was a sudden change of opinion by these members of county council. However, this is not really the case. At the time of the hearing, there was just no interest by county council in sitting down and preparing a proper submission.

And this leads us to the real question at hand. Why should active municipal councils be eliminated in order to streamline functions at the county council table? Municipal councils are the most vital form of government in the county and most responsive to the needs of the residents. For the most part, county council does little more than rubber stamp what has transpired at municipal council meetings. The fact that county council meetings can be made bi-monthly during the summer is an indication of the level of importance of the things it deals with.

In effect, what we are being asked to agree to is the streamlining of one level of government at the cost of another, more effective level of government. The result of all this to residents of the municipalities that are eliminated will very likely be an increase in municipal taxes, a reduction in the level of services, and a reduction in the weight of their votes in future municipal elections.

Traffic hazard

Editor:

Driving a taxi in Haliburton County for the past two years, I believe has given me some insight as to good and bad road conditions or traffic hazards as it were.

I realize there are many miles of roads in this large County to maintain and someone will always find fault with whatever changes or repairs that road crews undertake.

One intersection springs to mind when somebody says "Which one seems the most dangerous?" The intersection of South Water Street and No. 35 Highway reminds me of a brooding monster lying in wait to spring on its prey. Especially during the busy summer months, when traffic on Friday nights is heavy heading north on No. 35. Someone trying to pull out of the Valu-mart Plaza for instance must contend with traffic going north and south at 55, 60

Visiting is fun, when I get around to doing it. I really enjoy being on the giving and receiving end of a time together for talking, sharing anything from light small talk to heavy serious subjects.

Invariably, something always seems to connect these experiences together. One of them is the phrase, "Please excuse the mess," or any of the infinite variations on the theme:

"Don't mind the dirty dishes."

"I hope you don't mind coffee in a mug."

One of my mother's favourites was "Don't look at my floor". And we catch ourselves doing the same self-deprecating exercise when people come in and take a chair in our dining room or living room.

It's a useless formality, and we're so used to saying it. We want to make sure our guests ignore the dishes in the sink by calling their attention to mess. "You've seen them? Good. Now pull your eyes away and let's talk about how high the river's getting...."

And no, I don't mind coffee in a mug. Some days I wouldn't mind it in a pail.

I would really hate to think that whenever I come to visit people would expect me to say, "Boy, do you ever live in a pigsty!", or, "Why, yes, I do mind your dirty dishes - they are an eyesore. Don't expect me to come again until you have improved your home making skills."

On the other hand, rarely have I heard the opposite being said. Not once in living memory have I heard upon entering a friend's house (or a stranger's) this confident declaration:

"Doesn't my house look marvellous? The sink is empty. Sit down on a freshly dusted kitchen chair and have yourself a pot of coffee. Go ahead. Look at my floor."

I wonder why this state of affairs exists; Why it is that we think our guests expect perfection in something as tedious, repetitive, ignored, underrated, difficult and unpaid as housework. Why we think our houses should look like something approaching a House and Garden magazine. Perhaps we have allowed ourselves to be seduced by the gods of Good Impressions, Status and Respectability. That is sad.

Perhaps what we do as housework is so tedious, repetitive, ignored, underrated, difficult, and unpaid that we call attention to the slight misdemeanour of unwashed dishes so that at least someone will deny we are bad homemakers. We beg for scraps of praise. That is even sadder. It is not a good comment on us males who underrate, ignore or simply do not participate in the household chores.

Perhaps we have forgotten that the act of welcoming a guest is a gift of our home to you. "Mi casa es su casa" My house is your house. I'll ignore the toys under the table if you will and we'll have a meal together, eating with glad and humble hearts. I won't even say (though I will be sorely tempted) "Please excuse the mess." There is no excuse for it. Just come in and make yourself at home....

Show a little respect eh? A close friend of mine is at death's door -- which means that one day very soon I'm going to have to do something that I hate.

Worse than going to the dentist.

Worse than filling out my Income Tax form.

Worse than sitting through a session of Question Period even.

Okay, you're right -- I'm being melodramatic. Heck, it's not even a close friend that's dying. It's my car, and it's been ill for some time. Truth to tell, it's seven years old, baffed out, caved in, used up and run down. It's got a cracked windshield, uncountable dings in the hood and fenders, an exhaust system that sounds like the sound track from Apocalypse Now and a spare tire with less tread than a newborn's backside. Our province's lavish applications of road salt has left my buggy looking like an Iranian oil platform after a U.S. attack. It's odometer registers more kilometres than the Telstar satellite. The monthly repair bills required to keep my heap on the road have now reached -- nay, surpassed -- the monthly payments I made when it was new.

In short, my car deserves to die.

But that's not my problem. My problem is that its impending demise thrusts me into the dreaded dilemma I hinted at above. Which is to say...

I'm going to have to visit a car lot.

And I hate it! I hate the flocks of snow-white, tooth-capped, eye-wincing insincere smiles that await me. I hate the bone-crushing handshakes, the mood music, the "Call-me-Al,-Art-I-can-call-you-Art-can't I?" introductions. I hate the inevitable, unavoidable conversations about fuel consumption ratios, double wishbone suspensions, power train warranties and pro-rated financing options. I understand none of this of course, I'm too chicken-hearted to say so, so I stand in the showroom, kicking tires and nodding enthusiastically until somebody in a plaid jacket steers me to a chair and shows me where to sign.

I hate all of it.

Which maybe explains why I think I love John Price. John Price is a Knight in turtle-waxed armour for a terminal carlotophobic like me. He even looks kind of Knightly with his Man from Glad silver pompadour, his custom tailored suit and his Rolex watch, grinning confidently behind the wheel of his burgundy Alfa Romeo. He might pass for an aging tennis pro or perhaps a matinee idol from the heyday of Hollywood, but no, that's not what John Price does.

John Price buys cars. For the fun of it.

Well, not exactly. He buys cars for the fun of it and for the profit in it, too. For ten percent of the amount he saves off the sticker price plus 100 dollars. John Price will buy your next car for you -- and he guarantees you'll get the best deal in town.

"I love matching wits with car dealers" says Price. "I know how much profit is built into the sticker price and I know how low they're willing to come".

It's beautiful. John Price knows more about the cars he buys than the salesmen he buys them from. You phone him up and tell him what kind of car you want -- the make, the colour, the options -- he goes out and gets it for you. He offers the dealer only a few hundred dollars over the dealer's cost. And the smart dealers take it, because they know that John Price will be back again and again and again. And little commissions add up.

John Price will even nursemaid his clients through the paperwork of buying a car. He holds your hand while the financial arrangements are made, breaks the warranty agreement down into basic English and answers all those questions that you're afraid to ask the dealer.

I know what you're thinking. You're thinking "What's the matter with this schlemiel? His car is dying, he needs a new car, he's too gutless or witless to buy one for himself -- so why doesn't he phone up John Price and hire him to find a new set of wheels?"

There's just one small problem.

John Price is a dream come true to would-be car buyers alright -- but only if they live west of the San Andreas fault. He lives in San Francisco -- which is about 2,627 miles, 787 yards further than I would care to trust my mortally stricken vehicle to carry me.

Hmmmm.

I wonder if John Price makes house calls?

40 years' progress

It's been 40 years since the founding of the Arthritis Society in Canada and the organization grows stronger with each passing year. The glimmer of hope, embodied by the Society and shared by nearly million Canadians -- to control and conquer arthritis -- is being transformed into reality. Out of a medical conference in October, 1947, came the resolution to form a national voluntary health organization. By March, 1948, the Society's work had gotten underway, thanks to grants from the Canadian Red Cross Society and the National Health Grants program. Since then, the Arthritis Society has been committed to funding research and promoting proper patient care and public education.

It can proudly claim its position as the only not-for-profit organization in Canada devoted solely to this mission. The need for regional divisions made up of volunteers to complement the medical side quickly became evident and the first -- in British Columbia -- was set up in 1948. It took until 1972 to establish divisions in each province. In 1950 the Society launched its first campaign, which brought in $190,000 -- a far cry from 1986 revenues which totalled more than $12 million.

Though what causes and cures arthritis remains a mystery, the last 40 years have seen many advances, including the creation of Rheumatic Disease Units (RDUs) at all 16 of Canada's medical schools and an additional 16 RDU divisions at teaching hospitals across the country. In 1987, a total of 167 medical grants -- comprising new and ongoing research projects, and medical manpower

Lillies, trees, topic of spring seminar

by Susan Wilson

More than one hundred people gathered in the Minden Community Centre auditorium on Saturday, April 30, for the day-long Spring Seminar of District Four of the Ontario Horticultural Association.

This was the first time the Minden and District Horticultural Society played host to a district-wide event and, according to Jim Trotter, Director of District Four, which stretches from Haliburton Village south to the shores of Lake Ontario, taking in Campbellford to east and Lindsay to the west, virtually all of the 18 clubs were represented.

The term "horticulture" usually conjures up the thought of flowers and the display of prize-winning blooms, even at the end of a very cold April, did not belie that notion. Nor did the talks on "Lilies" by Dr. Robert Heyes of Haliburton and "Gardening in Retirement" by Len Shea of Lindsay.

However, horticulture also encompasses trees and, as an introduction to National Forest Week which took place from May 1-7, the Spring Seminar included a session on woodlot management. Dave Leader and Gary Clements, both Private Land Forestry Technicians with the Ministry of Natural Resources, outlined a variety of ways in which private citizens can call on the ministry for assistance in managing the wooded areas on their lands.

part of their property if they undertake a management program.

On the other hand, the Woodlands Improvement Act provides an opportunity for those whose land was cleared and wish to re-establish the forest to do so. The owner agrees to provide nursery stock and to protect the designated lands from livestock, disease, insects and, to the extent possible, fire. In the Minden District, there are 200 such agreements covering 50,000 acres, the lots ranging in size from the minimum five acres to 2,400 acres.

The Ontario Horticultural Association has a

Harold Winter of Colborne ponders the array of spring blooms presented in competition at the Ontario Horticultural Association Spring Seminar. The District Four event was hosted on Saturday, April 30, by the Minden and District Horticultural Society. Representatives came to the event from virtually all 18 clubs in District Four which stretches from Haliburton to Lake Ontario.

Ministry provides advice on reforestation

About 62 percent of the 4,500 square kilometres in the Minden District Forestry Management Program is privately owned. For these people, the ministry provides advice on how to deal with disease and insect infestations, does small-scale marking on trees for fuel, and will estimate logging volumes on areas over 20 acres and advertise the opportunity to loggers at the land-owner's request. It is even possible for land-owners to get a tax rebate on the forested membership of about 60,000 represented in 19 districts. The volunteer-run organization is funded by Queen's Park through the Ministry of Food and Agriculture, and promotes horticulture in its many aspects throughout the province. The OHA Convention to be held in Ottawa from June 20 to 23 is expected to draw more than 1000 people. Closer to home, the District Four Flower Show will be held at Sir Sandford Fleming College in Lindsay on Saturday, July 16.

Budget meets requirements

I would like to devote this week's Queen's Park Report once again to the budget, which was introduced on April 20, 1988.

I am firmly convinced that the 1988 Ontario Budget presents a plan of action to meet the requirements of today, while investing in opportunities for our future.

As many of you know, the general retail sales tax increased to 8 per cent, effective May 2. Even after the increase, the Ontario Retail Sales Tax will still be the fourth lowest in Canada. Only British

by John Eakins, MPP

Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba will have a lower rate, while Alberta doesn't have the retail sales tax. In order to help out low-income Ontarians, our government will more than double sales tax credits.

Levies are increasing on spirits, wine and beer, effective May 24, but the price of a case of 24 beer in Ontario will still be the lowest in Canada. In terms of wines and spirits, we will have the second lowest prices in Canada.

Also, Ontarians enjoy the third lowest personal income tax rate in Canada and the third lowest gas tax.

But, more importantly, the government of Ontario will have additional revenue to address growing needs in the areas of health, education, social services and housing.

people.

During the course of the investigation, undercover officers made numerous purchases of marijuana, hashish and hash oil. As a result of the execution of fourteen search warrants in the Haliburton, Coboconk, Lindsay, Millbrook, Peterborough, Lakefield and Campbellford areas, a quantity of cocaine, magic mushrooms, hash oil and marijuana was seized. The estimated value of the seized drugs is $20,000.00.

A total of thirteen charges of trafficking, two charges of cultivation, nine charges of possession of narcotics and five charges under the Criminal Code have been laid against fifteen people.

On April 30 at 6 a.m., raids on residences were conducted by approximately 35 police officers, including members of several detachments, the Lakefield Police Force and the Belleville and London Tactics and Rescue Units (TRU).

The investigation was headed by Detective Sergeant Russ Woodbeck and Corporal Al Collicutt of the District 8 Crime Unit. They were assisted by Detective Sergeant Carmen Knapp of the Drug Section at OPP

General Headquarters in. The accused are scheduled to appear in Provincial Court later this month.

This is the second successful drug investigation by the Peterborough District Crime Unit in the past six months and part of the continuing effort in the war against drugs.

More money for growing needs

will spend $12.7 billion on health care this year, an increase of $1.2 billion from 1987-88. This total is greater than the yield from Ontario's personal income taxes and represents $1,350 for every Ontario resident. The $12.7 billion for health services represents one-third of the total spending by our government for the fiscal year of 1988-89.

The budget announced a $900-million, three-year capital commitment that will support an estimated $1.3 billion in elementary and secondary school instruction. An additional $430-million will be provided over three years to reduce class size in grades 1 and 2, to provide additional textbooks and other learning materials and, to improve the availability and teaching of computer technology to students.

In order to expand and rehabilitate major roads and highways, capital funding for the Ministry of Transportation and, Northern Development and Mines has been increased by $100-million from 1987-88.

These are just a few of the details of the budget. For further information on the budget you can call Jackie Boyle at (416) 965-7171.

Perhaps the answer would be a flashing amber light north and south on No. 35, and a red light from the Valu-mart Plaza and South Water Street. I can't help but feel someone will be killed at this intersection and I'm sure there are others who feel the same, or have had a near miss at one time or another, as I have.

Don Mintz was home recently after undergoing a heart transplant operation in Toronto.

A light-hearted approach to life follows transplant

Don Mintz has been the subject of some good natured kidding since doctors at Toronto's Western Hospital transplanted the heart of a 32 year old woman into his chest. He doesn't mind the kidding though, because without the transplant, he speculates he wouldn't be around to enjoy the jokes.

Don received his new heart December 15 and has continued on a lengthy, albeit uneven, road to recovery ever since.

There have been quite a few comments about the fact that the new heart is from a female and that she was only 32 years of age, he pointed out, but because of his rare blood type, he was fortunate at all to find a suitable donor. "The doctors said I had about 24 hours to go with my own heart," Don said with a grin, "I guess it is just the Scottish in me, using it right up to the end."

Don Mintz is one of a growing number of area residents to have received a new heart in a transplant operation.

His old heart, was less than a reliable organ. It stopped working a number of times in the past, but thanks to the quick actions of local doctors Dawson and Holliday-Rhodes, he was revived. As the Minden area resident was being wheeled into the operating room for the transplant operation, the heart quit again. Fortunately it was the last time he would be needing it.

Even with the new, younger heart in his body, the recovery has not been as smooth as it could be. Don has had to return to the hospital in Toronto a number of times, for massive drug therapy to reverse rejection. The therapy suppresses the immune system and stops the body from rejecting the newly implanted organ.

However, as Don points out, it is not simply a matter of walking out of the hospital after the operation. With his immune system suppressed, he is more susceptible to colds and flu. He is told to avoid crowds, where he might pick up an infection.

He has suffered from what is known as transplant flu; back pains resulting from a spinal condition related to the drug therapy and bronchial problems. He has yet to recover full use of one of his hands, numbed by the drugs used to ease the acceptance of the new heart by his body, not to mention the cost of the drugs, close to $1,000 per month.

Don admits these are but minor inconveniences, compared to the only option open to him last year, and he had praise for the medical teams in

Don't be missing on May 12th!

May 12th is the date by which the Municipal Enumeration Notice mailed to your household must be completed and returned.

Five easy steps to complete your notice

Step 1. Just look at the front of the notice and check the information shown... that's all you have to do. The explanations on the back are to give you further details if you need them.

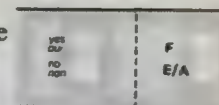

Step 2. If any of the information shown about occupants is incorrect, simply cross it out and write in the correction. Add information about new occupants, including children. If you don't have enough space on the notice, attach a separate piece of paper with all the details.

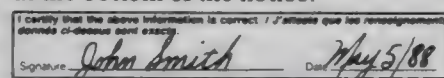

Step 3. Complete section 5 about French-language education rights... it's new for this enumeration. In areas of the province where school boards operate both English and French schools, English and French-language school trustees will be elected.

If you have French-language education rights, you will be able to vote for French-language school trustees.

Step 4. Sign your name in the space provided at the bottom of the notice.

Step 5. Return the notice by May 12th in the postage paid envelope.

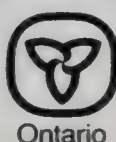

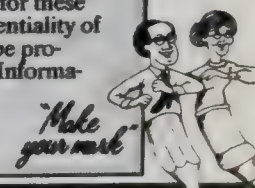

The information you give will be used by your municipal and provincial governments to:

- prepare the voters list for local government elections to be held on November 14, 1988
- direct your school taxes (as a tenant you can do this since part of your rent is for taxes)
- identify English-language and French-language electors for school board trustees

You are required by law to complete and return this notice.

- select prospective jurors
- prepare the Ontario population report
- update assessment records on ownership and tenancies
- help municipal and school board planning

The information will be used for these purposes only and the confidentiality of all personal information will be protected under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, 1987.

NEED HELP? If the information on the back of the notice doesn't answer your questions, call toll free 1-800-263-1988 or contact the Regional Assessment Office shown on your notice.

New federal export award program launched

The 1988 Canada Export Award Program was officially launched on April 12, 1988 by the Minister for International Trade, the Honourable John C. Crosbie. The Program, which began in 1983, has honoured sixty-five outstanding Canadian exporting companies.

Companies with at least three years' experience in exporting are eligible to win a Canada Export Award if they meet one, or a combination of the following requirements:

- success in introducing new export products in world markets,
- success in breaking into new markets,
- significant increases in export sales over the past three years, and/or,
- successfully holding markets in the face of strong competition.

Minister Crosbie will present the awards on October 3, 1988 in Calgary. Winners will be announced at a special ceremony organized by the Department of External Affairs in conjunction with the Annual Meeting of the Canadian Exporters' Association.

The deadline for receipt of this year's entries is June 24, 1988. For applications call the Department of External Affairs' toll-free Info Export Service at 1-800-267-8376, or the Trade Development Division of the Regional office of the Department of Regional Industrial Expansion in Toronto.

The CBC's present office and production facilities in Toronto are inadequate and widely scattered, with about three-quarters of the space held by lease. Production capacity is limited, making the CBC's objectives of efficiency and better Canadian programming difficult to meet.

Realizing the need for eventual expansion of its facilities, the CBC purchased a building site on Front Street in Toronto back in 1978. In June, 1986, the CBC received Cabinet approval to proceed with development of the site.

On April 8, 1988, the government approved an agreement between CBC and its selected developer, Cadillac Fairview, to construct a world-class radio and television production centre in downtown Toronto. In addition to housing the CBC, the new $1 billion complex will include offices, a hotel, shops and residential units. It will be a joint public-private sector enterprise, with the CBC owning the land. Construction of the $380 million Broadcast Centre will create an estimated 15,100 person-years of employment, including 4,200 on-site construction jobs. Work is expected to

Toronto. "That has to be the finest hospital I've ever been in," he comments of Toronto Western. "I've seen a lot of miracles performed there."

Don must still return to the hospital on a regular basis so the doctors can monitor his progress. As the signs of rejection decrease, the drug therapy will also be reduced, until, eventually he can return to a "normal existence."

For the time being, he is grateful for the unselfish donor, whoever she may be and urges all individuals to ensure the donor portion of their driver's licence is completed. Don is also grateful for the outpouring of support from throughout the area. "I received cards, prayers, well wishes and notes of concern from throughout the county and beyond," he commented. "Everyone's thoughts and prayers were most appreciated. I'll never be able to express how much it meant to me."

for your service

by Mel Flood, Minden Lions

Being one of the newer Service Clubs in the community I would like to take this opportunity to let the community know a little about the Lions.

Lions was founded by a businessman by the name of Melvin Jones in Chicago in 1917.

The first Lions club formed in Canada was in 1920 and established in Windsor, Ontario.

The letters in Lions stand for as follows:

L - Liberty
I - Intelligence
O - Our N - Nation's
S - Safety

Lions colours are Purple and Gold, which signify (purple) associated with royalty and (gold) royalty to a cause and purpose.

Our emblem, the two-headed lion, means the one looking back on past accomplishments and the other one looking ahead to future accomplishments.

Lions number 1,400,000 members in over 16 countries and geographical areas, forming the nucleus of 37,000 clubs.

Motto - We Serve - as with all service clubs our main objective is to serve our community first and then our fellow-man worldwide.

Minden and District Lions Club was chartered in 1985. At present with a membership of twenty-five and growing. We meet the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 7 p.m. from September to June at Our Lady of Fatima church hall.

Major fund raising activities during the year are the sale of Easter Bunnies, Christmas cakes, Nashville draw, Yard Sale and a booth at the fairgrounds during the Ride for Sight weekend. The newest fund raiser this year was the sale of programs for the Sled Dog Races, in conjunction with the Sled Dog committee.

Thank you for your past support and look forward to your continued support.

Police check belts

Every person who uses the roads risks injury or death. The risk is real.

There are a number of things you can do to reduce your own risk. Drive carefully. Don't drive after drinking. Keep your car in top condition. But none of these things will protect you from the other guy - the drunk or the poor driver. Accidents do happen.

Reduce your chance of injury by wearing your seatbelt. It's a fact that one third of Ontario drivers and passengers don't buckle up. Half of children covered by the child restraint law are not in car seats. Many car seats are not installed or used properly.

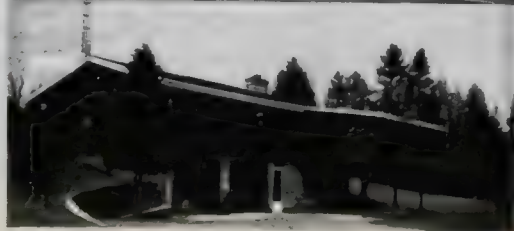

During 1986, 800 people died on Ontario's roads. Less than 1% of those people were wearing seatbelts. In the Peterborough District this year, there have been 8 fatalities. Two deaths resulted when unbelted occupants were thrown from their vehicles. These deaths could have been prevented through seatbelt use. Seatbelts also reduce serious injury.

District Traffic Supervisor, S/Sgt. Garry Holmes is concerned with the lack of compliance with seatbelt laws and all personnel have been instructed to step up enforcement during the month of May. So please, buckle up.

start this fall and be completed by 1992.

The construction of this comprehensive facility presents several advantages:

Low Operating Costs - the government has reviewed the CBC's financial projections of costs for the new centre versus the costs of remaining in its current premises, and is convinced that building the centre will result in savings of tens of millions of dollars over the next 20 years. The CBC will share with Cadillac Fairview the commercial revenues from the complex.

Enhanced Production Capacity - with lower production costs, the CBC can devote more of its resources to Canadian production and to increasing Canadian television programming to 95 per cent in prime time.

Tourism - together with its landmark neighbours, the CN Tower, the Royal Alex and Thomson Hall, the site of the new Broadcast Centre will make it a North American cultural and tourism magnet.

Job Creation - the entire development involves an investment of over $1 billion, creating thousands of jobs directly and indirectly through the construction phase.

Skunk cabbage is first up

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Now that there is bloom, or the promise of it, in the garden, we begin to look for the first woodland flowers like spring beauties and hepatics. But, early in March, in protected swampy areas the first flower of spring has already bloomed pushing up through the snow.

The purplish mottled cowl or protective spathe of the skunk cabbage thrusts through the ground like a fat snail, sometimes as early as February. By March, the spathe will have uncoiled to reveal the yellowish knob which is the flower. The flower or spadix is capable of producing enough heat to melt the surrounding snow. The large fan-like leaves, which by May will develop on fleshy stalks, are coiled tightly beside the spathe when it first pushes through the earth. It is the odour of these leaves when crushed that gives the skunk cabbage its name.

The skunk cabbage belongs to a group of plants called arums. The word arum comes from the Arabian word ar, meaning fire. Since all the plants of the arum family contain crystals of calcium oxalate, a taste of any part of the plant uncooked is a blistering experience. School boys used to dare unwary schoolmates to taste the root of another arum, Indian turnip, or, more familiarly, Jack-in-the-pulpit. The puckered face of the victim was the occasion of hilarity. A late spring plant, it blooms in May. Its three-lobed leaves resemble poison ivy, except that the three leaflets are stalkless. Under the leaves a green capped cone, ribbed with purple or brown, nestles. The club-shaped Jack or spadix stands inside this cone. In the fall, the fruits form an attractive cluster of red berries.

When I first saw the gleaming white spathe of the water arum in a wet meadow in Haliburton, I could not believe such a flower could exist outside a greenhouse. It looks like a miniature calla lily. Blooming in June when its heart-shaped leaves are fully developed, its large white spathe with the gleaming knob of the spadix looks as exotic in the northern swamp as a royal palm would look among the hemlocks.

In spite of their acrid taste, arums have been used for centuries as a food and medicine. Heat and drying help to get rid of much of the blistering quality and both root or corm and stalks have been used. The roots of arums were dried and ground to be used as flour. Accounts of the laborious preparation required before the roots were fit to eat make it clear arum root is not likely to be a favourite of the fast food generation.

The Indians ate the cooked berries of both the water arum and Jack-in-the-pulpit, and used the leaves and stalks of the skunk cabbage. When cooked in several changes of water the leaves are free from odour.

The arums were also reputed to have medicinal properties. The Indians used the roots and leaves of the skunk cabbage as a poultice for sores and swelling. The tubers have been used to treat hysteria, coughs and epilepsy. The corm of the Jack-in-the-pulpit was considered useful for treating stomach gas, asthma and rheumatism. There are no clinical notes on the effects of the treatments.

Arums are curious and attractive plants which break down all our conventional notions about what a flower is. This spring when you come on one of the arums, examine the flower of spadix with a magnifying glass. But leave the plant intact. The arums, while common locally, are never plentiful.

FREEMASONRY

Setting the Record Straight

Is Freemasonry A Secret Organization?

Absolutely not. Where and when Masons meet is public knowledge, as are their objectives and activities. The only "secrets" are the ways in which Masons recognize each other.

Is Freemasonry Some Sort of Religion?

It is not a religion and the subject is never discussed at Masonic meetings. A Mason must have a belief in a Supreme Being, but his particular faith or creed is a personal and private matter.

Are Masons Obligated to Help Each Other in Business?

No, Freemasonry is not organized for member profit, career enhancement or political advantage. Its purpose is to teach morality, encourage charity and practice worldwide brotherly love.

Do Masons Ever Discuss the Order with Nonmasons?

Yes, Masons welcome opportunities to talk about Masonry. As a policy, they do not solicit new members but are always ready to respond to those interested in becoming a member.

If you have other questions or would like to know more, talk to a Mason. Or write to our Grand Lodge Office on King Street West in Hamilton for a pamphlet outlining our activities, objectives and history. The mailing address is:

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: Why is the letter K like a pig's tail?

A: Because it comes at the end of pork.

* * *

Q: What kind of hawk has no wings?

A: A tomahawk.

* * *

Q: Why did the ram fall over the cliff?

A: It didn't see the ewe turn.

* * *

Q: What can you swallow that can also swallow you?

A: Water.

Hello Readers:

May is coming in nice. It's nice to see the green grass and all the birds again.

Rev. Burgess had the chapel service Sunday night and Tuesday morning Father George Elliott of the Anglican Church. On Wednesday evening Mr. Murray from Allsaw Church came and had service.

On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Coburn and Norma Barron entertained us with singing and music.

Welcome to Hyland Crest is Lillian James, Harry Foy and Bob Mitchell.

Movies last week were

North Pacific, Maligne Lake and Pathways in the Sky.

Ladies from Lochlin had our Thursday afternoon tea. It was delicious and the girls' singing was enjoyed very much.

Mrs. Buttery had a visit with Lois Nesbitt and Clara Frances. They also called on Angus Coulter. Doris took a bus load of the residents to hear the band from Haliburton High School. They enjoyed it very much.

Roy and Mrs. Cameron of Peterborough came and took Winnie Barnum out for a drive and dinner on Sunday. Jean Taylor had a day out with her niece Mrs.

Hobbs. Millie Wood had her daughter for dinner on Sunday evening. Nancy Carefoot had her daughter from Kinmount in several times during the week. My daughter Anna from Four Mile Lake took me on Monday for a nice drive to call on friends in Bobeaygeon and we stopped for dinner at Kinvale Inn in Kinmount. If you want a splendid dinner served with a smile, that's the place to go.

Guests for Dora Dawson during the week were Laverne and Grace Sisson, their daughter and two children, June Dawson, Donna Frich and Jim McArthur. Ada Lewis had two cousins in to see her.

Sorry to report Mrs.

Stutt has to use a wheelchair for the present as she has to take life easy for a spell. We all hope she will be well real soon.

Glad to report Mrs. Burgess is much improved and Edna Cowan is looking much better and gaining in strength.

Glenda Simpson was in to call on Mr. Simpson on Tuesday.

We had games Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium. Four tables of euchre crokinole and one of cribbage. We finished with coffee and cake which was appreciated. Thank you Linda.

All till next week.

It was interesting last Sunday morning as the Bowron (Alf Pritchard) log house came to it's site beside the museum. What a huge job, with many working on this project, mostly village seniors. Don't forget the annual Minden Firefighters car wash at the firehall on May 21. It's just $5 for each car washed and you will be supporting your local firefighters.

Carol Simpson and Jamie Jones of Toronto visited the Simpson and Jones families last weekend.

Jean Lacey has been a bit busier than usual. She and I were at a horticultural photography meeting at Beaverton on April 28. At that time she judged the spring flowers and spoke briefly.

Following this, there was a slide presentation and discussion on filming. In their plant draws, she and I each received a plant, a most enjoyable evening.

Indifference

One may have a blazing hearth

In one's soul,
And yet no one comes

To sit by it.
Passersby see only a wisp of smoke

Rising from the chimney
And continue on their way.

And we are brother's keeper?

The answer is yes!

Have we in our harried world

Lost the ability to care
For our fellow man?

The innocent babe, the animal

Who look to us

For compassion and love?

The afflicted, the aged?

Whose only hope in life

Lies in ourselves.

If we perceive that tiny wisp of smoke

Climbing to disappear in the azure sky,

And just pass by

Then we are also the losers

Not just the lonely gentle souls

Who silently wait for a kindly word

A caress

Can we do any less

Than give?

Yvonne

Attention teenagers! If you think you have it bad at home with parents, here is something to think about. You have:

Free food, free telephone, free electricity, free laundry, free water, free sewage, free TV, free money, free snacks, pop etc., free shampoo, soap and other personal items, free car, free car insurance and free gas.

And to pay for all of this free stuff, all you are expected to do is something that is distasteful to some young people. Love and respect your parents and the home that they have worked hard to provide for you. If you don't think it's a fair bargain, you could pay for all of those items on the list that are free to you. It would cost you about $800 a month. The next time you ignore your dad when he tries to tell you something or respond to your mother in a disrespectful way, just remember how bad you have it at home and how easy you would have it if you just moved out.

Winners at Club 35 euchre party Monday night included: Pearl Foster with most lone hand, Betty Campbell high lady and Bill Kleinschmidt high man. The door prize went to Ruby Cartwright and the others were Eleanor Kleinschmidt, John Dicker and Murray Daniels.

A Warm Welcome to the Community

for your service

by Gil Scott, Rotary Club of Minden

It was with extreme pleasure that Minden Rotary hosted the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Stage Band at its regular meeting Monday, May 2. We were also privileged to have 14 of our seniors from Hyland Crest as our guests.

Rotary President Dr. Peter Bennett welcomed Band Leader Rick Vaughan and his accomplished and polished group of musicians who rendered a pot pourri of selections ranging from traditional to modern with choices to suit all tastes. Maybe some of the titles will bring back memories: Yardbird Suite, Sun Cap, One More Song, Ringo, Big Noise from Winetka and an encore of Night Train.

We must commend Rick Vaughan for his tireless and dedicated efforts on behalf of the students and to the students who responded so well to his direction. We were introduced to the musicians individually and they told us the instrument that each played.

Another highlight of the evening's performance was the charming and congenial group of seniors from Hyland Crest. From their individual thanks, it was felt they enjoyed the musical performance as much as the Rotarians.

Music Director Rick Vaughan was especially thankful to Rotary for their financial commitment which he said, helped to start the ball rolling for the students' planned trip to Calgary, Alberta for the national finals later this month.

Both President Peter Bennett and Program Chairman Al Mayo were lavish in their praise for the students' talents and their leader's devotion.

We are all very proud of their accomplishments and we wish them every success at the final competition in Calgary.

Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins has been honoured for his outstanding contribution to the development of hockey in the Province of Ontario.

The Hockey Development Centre for Ontario (HDCO) recently presented Eakins with a certificate of recognition of his support and encouragement of the game.

Presenting him with the prestigious award were three executives of HDCO; Chairman of the Board Fred Mantle; Executive Director Neil Dows and Director, Barrie Davis.

Eakins, when he served as Minister of Tourism and Recreation, worked closely with HDCO to improve safety in amateur hockey. The co-operation and "open-door" policy encouraged by him was greatly appreciated by the organization.

"It is important for amateur hockey officials and the province of Ontario to co-operate for the betterment of the game," Mr. Downs says. "This kind of co-operation helped us in the past and will help in the future, as well."

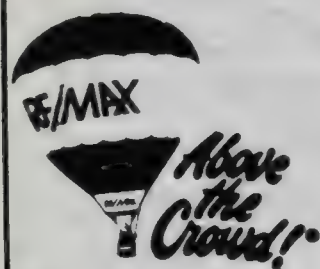

Eakins is now serving as the Minister of Municipal Affairs for the Province of Ontario.

The HDCO represents nine amateur hockey associations in the province, including the Ontario Hockey League, the Ontario Amateur Hockey Association and

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

SAFE DRIVERS STOP LOOK LISTEN

OREA serves industry provincially

Prepared by the Haliburton District Real Estate Board.

The real estate market recently escalated into a whirlwind boom that made headlines and caused a sensation which lasted for months. The Ontario Real Estate Association (OREA) has seen the peaks of times as prosperous as these, and since its formation in 1922, days of lesser activity as well.

Whatever the market condition, OREA's cardinal concern is to represent its member salespeople and brokers in the real estate vocation. OREA's province-wide membership has grown from a half-dozen in 1922 to more than 38,000 today. And subsequently consumers benefit from OREA's interest in real estate.

A real estate consumer can be assured of a high level of professionalism in the industry because of strict licencing measures. OREA members must also adhere to an uncompromising code of ethics as a condition of membership in OREA and the Canadian Real Estate Association (CREA).

The code of ethics has done much to create and maintain the respectable and credible character of the industry. A real estate consumer who has a grievance about the ethical practices of a real estate professional can take action. A grievance should be put in writing and forwarded to the local real estate board*. The board examines the case and handles the matter.

OREA undertakes issue public education campaigns that would otherwise be ignored and overlooked.

Obtaining the entrenchment of private property rights in the Constitution is one such example. Since 1981 OREA has actively sought to bring about this guarantee. Losing Ground and Lost Ground are two publications OREA has produced for this campaign, the former outlining more than 700 laws restricting property owners, and the later, providing case examples of the absurdity of these laws. OREA member boards annually organize a Private Property Week of events to inform and involve the public in this matter.

Meeting the needs of its members and in turn the public requires OREA to maintain close ties with the government. OREA acts as a spokesperson for the industry by keeping the government abreast of industry concerns and issues.

In the interests of licencing qualified salespeople and brokers, OREA is the government's nominee for administering pre-licencing educational courses. In order to become a licenced sales representative it is necessary to complete a diploma program of 150 hours of lectures and three exams over an 18-month period. The program consists of three segments which take five weeks on a full-time basis or six months on an evening schedule to finish. Class sizes average about 30. Within a year of graduating the candidate must register with a broker to get his/her licence.

OREA members endeavor to help communities that have contributed to their success. To fulfill this mandate OREA members agreed in 1967 to form a Foundation that would disperse funds to community projects, libraries, educational institutions and other charitable groups. More than 100 organizations have benefitted from their mandate to help communities in Ontario. Among the benefactors are: Pollution Probe, Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, Sudbury Remedial Teaching Centre and the Barrie tornado disaster relief fund.
